OPENING STATEMENT

Every constituency reflects the history, needs, and expectations of its people. For Ekiti North 1 Federal Constituency, the past three years have tested the meaning of representation and service.

Since 2023, representation has moved beyond campaign promises. It has required consistent engagement, responsiveness, and a focus on real community needs.

Representative Akintunde Rotimi (AkinỌmỌAkin) has approached his role in the 10th National Assembly with a clear sense of duty to the people of Ikole and Oye. As a son of Odo-Ayedun, he brings a commitment to integrity, learning, and public service shaped by the Omoluabi values.

This report presents a record of that work. It outlines the key demands raised across the constituency, the condition of critical infrastructure, and the actions taken to address them.

It also reflects the expectations of the people and the responsibility to meet them with measurable progress.

This is not only a summary of activities. It is a statement of accountability and a foundation for the work ahead.

Chief of Staff / Senior Legislative Aide
Office of Rep. Akintunde Rotimi

INTRODUCTION

I am pleased to present this Third Year Stewardship Report to the people of Ekiti North 1 Federal Constituency. This report reflects the work we have undertaken together since 2023 and reaffirms my responsibility to represent the interests of Ikole and Oye with diligence and integrity.

Over the past three years, I have remained guided by the trust you placed in me. That trust has required consistent engagement with our communities and a clear focus on addressing priority needs. Across our constituency, the demands are evident. They include improved infrastructure, access to quality education and healthcare, expanded economic opportunities, and stronger support for vulnerable groups.

This report provides an account of the steps taken to respond to these needs. It outlines legislative contributions, constituency interventions, and efforts to strengthen transparency and public engagement. It also reflects the realities we continue to face and the work that remains to be done.

My approach to public service is grounded in accountability and inclusion. Representation must go beyond presence in the National Assembly. It must translate into action that improves daily life and restores confidence in governance.

As we review the progress made, I remain mindful that service is ongoing. The responsibility to deliver results continues, and the expectations of our people remain the standard by which this work must be judged.

I invite you to examine this report with a critical mind and a shared commitment to the development of our constituency. Together, we will continue to pursue practical solutions and build a stronger, more prosperous Ekiti North 1.

THE MAN

AkinỌmỌAkin

Rep. Akintunde Rotimi, Jr. (AkinỌmỌAkin) was born in 1981 in Lagos, Nigeria, and is an indigene of Odo-Ayedun in Ikole Local Government Area of Ekiti State. He was raised within a value system shaped by the Christian faith, academic discipline, pan-African consciousness, and the Yoruba Omoluabi ethos, which emphasises character, responsibility, and service to community. His worldview reflects a strong commitment to public service, the pursuit of the common good, and the advancement of equality, justice, and inclusive governance.

He comes from a distinguished lineage of public service, faith leadership, and civic engagement. His father, Late Chief (Hon.) Akintunde Rotimi (formerly Samuel Akintunde Silva), was a Second Republic parliamentarian who represented Ekiti North Federal Constituency in the House of Representatives (1979–1983) under the Unity Party of Nigeria (UPN). A civil servant, activist, and close associate of Chief Obafemi Awolowo, he served in several strategic roles in the Federal Civil Service, including assignments connected to national policy coordination, inter-ministerial committees, and post-civil war administrative recovery processes. He was widely known for his principled advocacy for workers' rights, including agitation for improved conditions of service in the public sector, which earned him the popular sobriquet "Mr. Car Loan" following his resistance to the abolition of car loans for public servants.

His mother, Madam Modupeola Rotimi (née Lamilisa), is an educationist and retired Director in the Federal Ministry of Education, where she served with distinction, rising to become Head of the Federal Inspectorate of Education in Ondo State. She was among the first recipients of the National Youth Service Corps (NYSC) Presidential Merit Award conferred by the Head of State at the time, General Yakubu Gowon, in recognition of outstanding service to the nation in her early career.

On the paternal side, his grandfather, Late Sir Daniel Adeleye Silva of Odo-Ayedun, was a respected builder and one of the founding figures of the Methodist Church in the community, while his grandmother, Madam Grace Ibileye Silva (née Iginla of Odo-Oro Ekiti), was a trader and community organiser known for her grassroots influence and civic participation. On the maternal side, his great-grandfather, Most Reverend Jacob Sylvanus Williams of Abeokuta, was the first Primate of the African Church (1922–1933) and a pioneer advocate of indigenous leadership in African Christianity. His maternal grandfather, Chief Adesola Kolajo Lamilisa (formerly Jonathan Adesola Williams), was a nationalist, civil servant, and independence-era activist associated with cultural re-orientation and indigenous self-assertion movements.

Rep. Rotimi received his early education at Corona School, Victoria Island, Lagos; Federal Government College, Ido-Ani; and King's College, Lagos, where he completed his secondary education in 1997. He proceeded to the University of Ibadan, where he obtained a Bachelor's degree in Geography. While at Ibadan, he served as President of the Nigerian Universities Geography Students' Association (UI Chapter) and led the Fathers' House Project, a student initiative focused on addressing cultism and social vices on campus. Through this platform, he worked closely with the late Prof. Olumuyiwa Awe, contributing to campus reform and youth re-orientation efforts.

He later obtained a Master's degree in Diplomacy and Strategic Studies from the University of Lagos, a Diploma in Film Production from the Toronto Film School, and a Postgraduate Diploma in Public Relations from Mohawk College in Canada. He has also undertaken executive education programmes at leading global institutions, including Harvard Kennedy School, Georgetown University's Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service, the Woodrow Wilson Centre for International Scholars, the United States Institute of Peace, and Pan-Atlantic University in Lagos.

He began his professional career in public relations and strategic communications, working with firms such as Rosabel Leo Burnett, Verdant Zeal, and BGL Plc. Over time, he evolved into a multi-disciplinary communications and public affairs professional operating at the intersection of governance, development, and civic engagement across Nigeria and Canada. He is the co-founder of Great and Mighty Things Inc., through which he has produced documentaries and short films on social development themes. He is a member of the Canadian Media Producers Association (CMPA), and has previously served on the boards of the Canadian Public Relations Society (Hamilton) and STAND Canada.

His foray into public service became more defined during the first tenure of Dr. Kayode Fayemi as Governor of Ekiti State, where he served successively as Special Assistant on Corporate Communications, Senior Special Assistant, and later Principal Private Secretary to the Governor. In this capacity, he played a central role in government communications strategy, knowledge management, and policy articulation, while coordinating flagship public communications and state branding programmes. He was instrumental in coordinating the process that led to the creation of the Ekiti State logo on March 6, 2011, under the supervision of the late Deputy Governor, H.E. Mrs. Funmi Olayinka, and is also credited with authoring the Ekiti Charter of Values, which was subsequently adopted for use in public schools across the state.

During the second tenure of Dr. Kayode Fayemi as Governor of Ekiti State, he served as Special Adviser (Communications and Strategy) and Member of the State Executive Council, fully integrated into the executive decision-making structure. He provided strategic direction for government communications, coordinated inter-ministerial messaging, and aligned policy priorities with public information and stakeholder engagement frameworks. He also strengthened the State's reputation management and citizen engagement systems, ensuring coherent communication of government policies and reforms. During the COVID-19 pandemic, he supported crisis communication efforts, ensuring timely, accurate, and responsible dissemination of information across multiple platforms, while working with relevant ministries and agencies to enhance policy articulation, improve executive coordination, and further integrate communications strategy into governance outcomes.

At the federal level, he served as Special Adviser on Investment Promotions at the Ministry of Mines and Steel Development between 2015 and 2018, where he contributed to investment facilitation and sectoral reform efforts, including participation in the committee that developed the 20-Year Roadmap for the Growth and Development of the Nigerian Mining Sector. In 2020, he served as a member of the Ekiti State Judicial Panel of Enquiry into Alleged Cases of Police Brutality, constituted in response to the EndSARS protests, contributing to the review of petitions and reform recommendations. He also served on the Residents' Reference Panel on Automotive Insurance in Ontario, Canada, which made policy recommendations to improve insurance administration in the province.

In his civic and humanitarian engagements, he has led and participated in missions across Nigeria, Liberia, Sierra Leone, Rwanda, Burundi, and Uganda, with a focus on post-conflict peace building, youth development, and social protection for vulnerable populations. He is co-founder of the Samuel Akintunde Silva Foundation (SASCARE Foundation), which focuses on military widows' welfare, mental health and wellness, medical missions, and elderly care. He is also the founder of Ekiti Connect, a network of young professionals committed to development collaboration and community impact.

Rep. Akintunde Rotimi, Jr. has also found expression in the creative industry as an actor and model, featuring in productions such as Africa Magic's Tinsel (as Dieko), Battleground (as Dr. Abiodun), and Forbidden (as Mustapha), among others. He has also appeared in international commercial campaigns for brands such as HSBC and Walmart, viewing the creative sector as a tool for social transformation and storytelling for development.

He has received several recognitions, including the LEAP Africa Youth Leadership Award, The Future Awards Africa (TFAA) recognition, and was named a Crans Montana *"New Leader for Tomorrow." He is an Associate Fellow of the Nigeria Leadership Initiative (NLI) and an alumnus of the United States Government's International Visitors Leadership Programme (IVLP). He also holds the honorary title of Supremo Viajante Del Sudoeste, conferred by the City of El Paso, Texas, and the El Paso Council for International Visitors.

He is currently a Member of the House of Representatives, representing Ekiti North I (Ikole/Oye) Federal Constituency, and serves as Spokesman of the 10th Assembly, as well as Chairman of the House Committee on Media and Public Affairs. In this role, he leads the public communication architecture of the House of Representatives, overseeing institutional messaging, media engagement, and dissemination of legislative information, contributing to a more structured, data-driven, and accessible communication framework within the Green Chamber.

He also served on the Ad-Hoc Committee that developed the Legislative Agenda of the 10th Assembly and continues to support its implementation, with emphasis on open governance, institutional accountability, and citizen engagement. His legislative interests focus on inclusion, media freedom, democratic participation, and equitable access to opportunity, guided by the principle of "Leaving No One Behind," particularly in relation to women, persons with disabilities, and underserved communities.

The R.O.L.E.

Model of Stewardship and Accountability

...The Marking Scheme

THE R.O.L.E. MODEL OF STEWARDSHIP AND ACCOUNTABILITY

To understand the impact of a legislator, it is important to follow a standardised framework of assessment that is constitutionally grounded, functionally defined, and objectively measurable. Such a framework ensures that the performance of public office is not reduced to sentiment or perception, but is instead evaluated through clearly defined responsibilities inherent in representative democracy.

The role of representation is not one of symbolism or episodic visibility, but of structured responsibility grounded in constitutional duty and measurable outcomes. It is this understanding that informs this Account of Stewardship, marking my three years in office as the Representative of Ekiti North I (Ikole/Oye) Federal Constituency.

This report is anchored on The R.O.L.E. Model of Stewardship and Accountability, a framework which captures the DNA of effective governance. By aligning a representative's actions with its four core mandates, Representation, Oversight, Legislation, and Empowerment, (R.O.L.E.) we move away from sentimental considerations and toward an objective Account of Stewardship. It is this structure that defines both the basis and organisation of this report.

It is also important to acknowledge a fundamental reality of representative governance. No elected official, no matter how committed, can meet every request or satisfy every expectation. The constituency space is wide and diverse, with competing needs and priorities. As a result, efforts by representatives may sometimes fall short of expectations, particularly where demands relate to individual or immediate personal gratification. Such gaps may attract criticism from some quarters. However, these realities must be understood within the broader context of limited resources, institutional processes, and the responsibility to balance individual demands with collective public good.

Representation: The Voice of the People

At its core, representation is the bridge between the grassroots and the centre of power. It is the constitutional mandate to mirror the yearnings, anxieties, and aspirations of the constituency, as provided under Section 4 of the 1999 Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria (as amended), which vests legislative authority in the National Assembly to ensure inclusive representation of the federating units in the exercise of law-making powers.

In practical terms, stewardship in this area is measured by accessibility, attendance, punctuality, and participation at plenary sittings; how constituency concerns are elevated into national discourse; the number of petitions formally presented on the floor of the House; and engagement with constituents through town halls and consultations. It is further assessed by the "share of voice" of the constituency in legislative deliberations and national policy conversations, reflecting how effectively local priorities are represented in governance outcomes.

Oversight: The Shield of Accountability

A representative serves as a watchdog over public expenditure and policy implementation. This oversight role is mainly discharged through active participation in House Committees, which are the engine room of legislative work and essential to the functioning of the National Assembly.

Through committee assignments, members engage Ministries, Departments, and Agencies (MDAs) through budget defence sessions, investigative hearings, and performance reviews to ensure public funds are spent in line with legislative appropriation and the rule of law. The quality of engagement in committee deliberations also determines the depth and effectiveness of legislative scrutiny.

Stewardship in this area extends to strengthening institutional efficiency within the House, supporting orderly committee processes, adherence to legislative procedures, and reforms that enhance Parliament's capacity to discharge its constitutional oversight mandate.

- Legislation: The Architecture of Order

Legislation is the primary tool for social engineering. It is not merely about making laws, but about crafting policies that address systemic challenges and resolve structural socio-economic bottlenecks.

From first reading through final assent, the process demands active engagement through sponsorship or co-sponsorship of bills that respond to the lived realities of the people. Performance is assessed through both output and impact. The key question is whether legislative interventions have improved governance outcomes such as security, healthcare, education, economic development, and overall quality of life.

- Empowerment: The Catalyst for Growth

While not always expressly codified as a formal constitutional clause, empowerment has become a key expectation of legislative representation. It involves facilitating access to opportunities, infrastructure, and resources that enable constituents to thrive independently.

Through zonal intervention and constituency-based initiatives, this pillar is expressed through scholarships, vocational training, and provision of small-scale industrial equipment. The focus is on sustainable transformation, not short-term relief, and on how many lives are moved from poverty to productivity through structured interventions.

Conclusion

To evaluate legislative performance through the R.O.L.E. Model is to insist on clarity, structure, and fairness in public accountability. Each pillar, Representation, Oversight, Legislation, and Empowerment, reflects a distinct but interconnected responsibility that defines the office of a representative.

Within this framework, this Account of Stewardship presents a structured and evidence-based reflection of three years in office, enabling constituents and stakeholders to assess performance not through sentiment, but through clearly defined standards of democratic responsibility.

“The challenges are onerous and multifaceted and requires all development stakeholders to invest in the idea of concentrating development interventions in Ekiti North 1 Federal Constituency, where you will find a representative with the Care, Courage, and Capacity, to work with you to achieve measurable development outcomes.

OUR MANIFESTO

Legislative Agenda for Ekiti North 1 (Ikole/Oye) Federal Constituency

ISSUED OCTOBER 2022

Together with accomplished indigenes, diaspora stakeholders, and subject matter experts, AkinOmoAkin will conduct a comprehensive review of gaps in the legal and regulatory framework across key sectors to determine bills or amendments to existing laws that he will champion. Our focus areas include:

- Healthcare
- Education
- Gender Equality
- Social Protection
- Security
- Foreign Policy

Healthcare

AkinọmọAkin is passionate about healthcare. Our central vision is clear: no one must be left behind, especially vulnerable populations in the last mile of society.

Key Priorities:

Infrastructure: We will lobby government agencies, NGOs, and indigenes in the diaspora to mobilise resources to bridge infrastructure deficits across primary health centres and general hospitals in Ikole and Oye LGAs.

Health Missions / Surgical Festivals: We will organise periodic health missions and surgical outreach programmes to deliver critical care to underserved communities.

Public Health Education: We will champion sustained campaigns that promote behavioural change, prevent lifestyle diseases, and encourage early detection for timely intervention.

Address Negative Cultural Practices: We will advocate against harmful practices such as Female Genital Mutilation and all forms of Gender-Based Violence.

Menstrual Health Packs: We will establish a pad-bank to provide menstrual hygiene products, ensuring girls remain healthy, confident, and active in school and daily life.

Infant and Maternal Health Kits: We will support pregnant women, new mothers, and newborns with essential kits to reduce maternal and infant mortality and improve wellbeing.

Specialty Care: We will prioritise support for the elderly, persons with disabilities, and children with learning difficulties.

Motivation of Health Workers: We will create incentives that encourage healthcare workers to remain in our facilities and deliver quality care.

Education

Access to quality education is a powerful equaliser that enables every child to realise their full potential, regardless of background.

Key Priorities:

Infrastructure: We will mobilise resources through government, NGOs, diaspora, and partners to address infrastructure gaps in primary and secondary schools across Ikole and Oye LGAs.

School Uniforms and Shoes: We will reduce barriers to education by providing uniforms and shoes for vulnerable children.

Special Education: We will expand access to education for children with special needs through targeted support initiatives.

Bursary: We will provide bursaries for students in higher institutions to ease the financial burden on families.

Competitions: We will promote academic excellence through essay competitions and other structured learning initiatives.

Teachers' Motivation: We will incentivise teachers to improve performance, commitment, and retention.

Economic Empowerment

Lack of economic opportunity is a major driver of crime and social instability. Every citizen deserves access to decent work or the means to build a livelihood.

Key Priorities:

Jobs! Jobs! Jobs!: We will actively attract employment opportunities by building a job seekers' database to match qualified constituents with openings in government and private sector organisations. We will also work with an advisory committee of senior civil servants—indigenes of the constituency—to identify gaps in Federal Character representation and advocate for fair employment opportunities.

Small Business Grants: We will provide financial support to entrepreneurs, artisans, and traders to strengthen livelihoods and economic independence.

Equipment Support: We will collaborate with local unions (transport, PMAN, and others) to identify equipment needs and empower members to improve productivity.

Local Content: We will prioritise local contractors and suppliers in all constituency projects to keep economic value within the community.

Farmers' Support Programmes: We will support farmers to increase productivity and promote value addition within the constituency.

Industries: We will work with stakeholders to attract and establish job-creating industries.

Creative Industries: We will incentivise filmmakers and content creators to utilise local talent and locations, creating jobs and showcasing our communities.

Infrastructure Development

AkinỌmỌAkin has demonstrated the ability to mobilise stakeholders to attract infrastructure—even without holding elective office. This proven track record will be scaled with your mandate.

Key Priorities:

Baseline Assessment: We will conduct a comprehensive study of infrastructure gaps, working closely with all 40 community town unions to develop a clear, actionable strategy from Day 1.

Health and Education Infrastructure: We will identify critical gaps in facilities and equipment and mobilise resources to address them.

Road Infrastructure: We will advocate for improved road networks to enhance mobility, safety, and economic activity.

Power: We will pursue community-level solutions to improve electricity access and expand street lighting in underserved areas.

Commercial Infrastructure: We will upgrade markets and trading hubs to improve productivity, safety, and economic efficiency.

Sports and Recreational Infrastructure: We will develop facilities that nurture talent and promote physical and social wellbeing.

Social Protection

AkinọmọAkin remains committed to ensuring dignity and support for the most vulnerable in society.

Key Priorities:

Welfare for the Vulnerable: We will prioritise widows, the elderly, orphans, and other vulnerable groups through targeted interventions.

Food Bank: We will establish a structured food bank system to support those in need.

Support for Persons with Disabilities: We will promote inclusion and empower persons with disabilities to live productive, fulfilling lives..

Security

Security challenges in the constituency require urgent, coordinated, and practical solutions.

Insecurity disproportionately affects farmers and market women—disrupting agricultural production, hindering transportation of goods, increasing food prices, and threatening livelihoods. Kidnapping and violent crime must be decisively addressed.

Key Priorities:

Multi-Level Security Collaboration: We will champion strong coordination among federal, state, and local security stakeholders to protect lives and property.

Military Presence: We will advocate for the establishment of a military base within the constituency.

Protection of Farmers and Traders: We will prioritise measures that secure farms, transport routes, and markets to stabilise food supply and prices.

Welfare for Security Personnel: We will advocate improved welfare for security personnel and support for families of fallen heroes.

Security Sector Reform: We will support the decentralisation of the security architecture for more responsive and effective policing.

Foreign Policy

AkinỌmỌAkin will leverage diaspora networks, town unions, and advisory committees of senior civil servants to ensure all initiatives are community-informed, feasible, and sustainable.

- Community consultation through 40 town unions.
- Structured planning with diaspora and local elites to mobilise resources.
- Pre-office track record: AkinOmoAkin has been delivering projects even before holding elective office, demonstrating commitment and credibility.

AkinọmọAkin is committed to mobilising all stakeholders—government, diaspora, community institutions, and development partners—to deliver inclusive and sustainable development.
The mission is clear: to build a constituency where no one is left behind.

INAUGURAL STATEMENT

ABUJA, FCT | Thursday, June 15, 2023

BUILDING A LEGACY:
MY PLEDGE TO EKITI NORTH 1

AOA-MHR | Day 3 of 1461 | 0001

By the grace of God, on Tuesday, June 13, 2023, I took the oath of office as the Member of House of Representatives to represent Ekiti North 1 Federal Constituency comprising Ikole and Oye local government areas.

It is a huge responsibility and privilege to be the voice of an estimated 461,500 constituents, and to be one out of 360 members in the Green Chamber of Nigeria's National Assembly, with the mandate to make laws, represent our people, and carry out oversight functions amongst other duties, in the service of over 200 million Nigerians.

I am grateful to God and to everyone who contributed to what seemed impossible. I will not rehash a long list, but please refer to the statement I made after I was returned winner of the February 25, 2023 election, to learn more about those who contributed to making this happen. I hope some people are inspired by my story, and the path I have walked to get to this point - that proves it is possible to attain your God-given purpose without losing yourself and what you stand for, even in politics and governance.

I am appealing to everyone within and outside the constituency to kindly support our efforts to redefine representation and give meaning to the mandate of our people. The challenges are onerous and multifaceted and requires all development stakeholders to invest in the idea of concentrating development interventions in Ekiti North 1 federal constituency, where you will find a representative with the Care, Courage, and Capacity, to work with you to achieve measurable development outcomes. I need you.

To be clear, by the grace of God, I don't intend for it to be said of me, that I tried, or for my performance to be rationalized within the context of the challenges - I have a vision to perform excellently across all indices, and make my tenure representing the good people of Ekiti North 1, a reference point and model for all others in the country. I am focused on leaving a legacy of sustainable positive impact on the lives of our people.

My stewardship of our people's mandate will be for them to judge incrementally and at the end of our tenure. I am, however, primarily focused on obtaining the approval of God and my conscience in all that we shall do. While I welcome constructive criticisms, advice, and feedback, I would neither be distracted by the praises nor unfair criticisms from any quarters.

Accordingly, I respectfully decline in advance any awards or recognitions, without exception, for my service while I am still serving. Any such recognitions, as God preserves us, should be deferred to Day 1,461 of our 1,461 day tenure.

Similarly, I will not be moved by some who believe in maligning the character of public servants as a means to get them to do what they want, which might not be immediately possible due to competing priorities.

In line with my central philosophy and campaign promises, I will prioritise the vulnerable in all I do and concentrate available resources on interventions that serve the greater majority. I apologize in advance for those I would not be able to accede to their demands because resources are limited. I am deeply sorry. I would, however, be guided by the collective wisdom of our party, our traditional rulers, and our community leaders to ensure an equitable and transparent spread of all that is available.

I will also work collaboratively with the visionary Governor Biodun Oyebanji administration of the Government of Ekiti State, as well as other elected representatives from the constituency, to avoid duplication of interventions, and to optimize efforts for the upliftment of our people. I will carry all stakeholders and constituents along and not only work hard for you, but with you - to understand and lead efforts to address the challenges our people face. We will win together by the grace of God.

This milestone in my journey is dedicated to the memory of Chief (Hon.) Akintunde Rotimi Sr, my father and predecessor of blessed memory. I thank God for the life of love, honour, and service he modeled, during his tenure as a parliamentarian and representative, and in the course of his life, and pray for God's grace to do better, as I get to work.

Igbayi Ayewa O!

Thank you.

REPRESENTATION

REPRESENTATION SCORECARD

Ekiti North 1 Federal Constituency | Year Three Stewardship Snapshot

Rep. Akintunde Rotimi's representation within the period under review is defined by a deliberate emphasis on accessibility, sustained civic engagement, strategic legislative influence, institutional visibility, and measurable developmental outcomes. His stewardship reflects a dual responsibility: responsiveness to the immediate needs of constituents in Ekiti North I Federal Constituency and active participation in national lawmaking, ensuring that constituency priorities are consistently advanced within federal policy, appropriations, and oversight outcomes.

This framework is anchored on three interdependent pillars: Accessibility, Engagement, and Legislative & Constituency Interventions.

ACCESSIBILITY

Effective representation, as demonstrated by Rep. Akintunde Rotimi, is anchored on ensuring that constituents can reliably reach their representative and receive timely, substantive responses. Within the period under review, structured systems were further strengthened to deepen access, streamline feedback, and improve resolution of constituent concerns.

A significant volume of requests, complaints, and casework submissions was received and addressed through both direct engagement and the AkinỌmỌAkin Constituency Office, located at Ikole Town Hall, behind Total Filling Station, Ikole-Ekiti. The office continues to function as a structured constituency interface, bridging citizens' concerns with legislative action, oversight engagement, and administrative follow-through.In practical terms, Rep. Akintunde Rotimi has maintained a consistently visible and accessible presence, ensuring that the voices and concerns of constituents across Ikole and Oye Local Government Areas are not only heard but actively reflected in legislative engagement, committee participation, and executive interfacing.

Legislative performance during the period remained strong, reflected in a 96 percent plenary attendance rate, alongside sustained sponsorship, contributions, and interventions on constituency-relevant issues on the floor of the House. This ensured that Ekiti North I priorities remained consistently present within national legislative discourse.

A defining institutional advantage during the period has been Rep. Akintunde Rotimi's strategic role as Spokesman of the House of Representatives, which has enhanced national visibility, strengthened access to decision-making platforms, and expanded his capacity to advocate effectively for constituency and national interests at the highest levels of legislative engagement.

Access was further broadened through multiple communication platforms, including the official website (www.akinrotimi.com), dedicated email channel (contact@akinrotimi.com), WhatsApp engagement, and active digital communication via @repakinrotimijr. These platforms have served as continuous channels for updates, feedback, and citizen engagement.

In addition, structured constituency interventions were implemented across communities, with over ₦40 million disbursed across 40 communities in direct interventions (exclusive of nominated constituency projects). These interventions complemented formal constituency projects and addressed urgent, localised development needs.

A key feature of Rep. Akintunde Rotimi's stewardship during the period has been sustained legislative lobbying across Ministries, Departments, and Agencies (MDAs). Through targeted advocacy, persistent engagement, and strategic follow-up, multiple federal projects were attracted to Ekiti North I Federal Constituency, translating legislative influence into tangible infrastructure and development outcomes.

A further defining outcome of this legislative engagement has been the facilitation of over 40 permanent employment placements for constituents across federal institutions, including:

- Federal Medical Centre, Ikole-Ekiti
- Nigerian Navy
- Federal Fire Service (Nigeria)
- Nigerian Army
- Ekiti State Polytechnic, Isan-Ekiti
- Nigeria Police Force
- National Assembly Library (Nigeria)
- Nigeria Agricultural Quarantine Service (NAQS)
- National Examinations Council (NECO)
- Federal Polytechnic, Ado-Ekiti
- Nigerian Air Force
- Department of State Services (DSS)

In addition, Rep. Akintunde Rotimi regularly provides timely information on job openings and recruitment opportunities across federal agencies, ensuring that constituents are consistently informed and well-positioned to take advantage of available employment windows and public service entry opportunities.

Collectively, these interventions reflect a results-driven model of representation grounded in accessibility, institutional influence, and measurable constituency impact.

It serves as a bridge between the legislature and the citizens it represents, ultimately contributing to the health and vitality of the democratic system .

INSTITUTIONAL OVERSIGHT MANDATE

The oversight function of the House of Representatives anchors accountability within Nigeria's constitutional democracy. It enforces discipline in public administration, ensures fidelity to law, and sustains public confidence in governance.

The 10th Assembly, House of Representatives operates within a uniquely complex democratic context. It is the most politically diverse Assembly since 1999, with membership drawn, at inception, from eight political parties and about 70% of first-time legislators. This composition places a premium on coordination, clarity of legislative communication, and institutional coherence.

Section 62 of the Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, 1999 (As Amended) empowers the House to establish Committees for special and general purposes. In line with the House Standing Orders, these Committees are constituted within the first thirty legislative days of a new Assembly to secure order, continuity, and institutional discipline.

Sections 88 and 89 further vest the House and its Committees with authority to investigate public administration, examine the execution of laws, scrutinise public expenditure, and ensure compliance by Ministries, Departments, and Agencies (MDAs) with legislative resolutions. The Committee system operationalises this mandate.

Standing Committees exercise sector-specific oversight across critical areas including health, education, health, justice administration, labour, transport, and economic regulation. Special Committees preserve the internal governance architecture of the House, ensuring procedural order, ethical compliance, accountability, and an effective public interface.

Seven Special Committees sustain this institutional backbone:

- Committee on Selection
- Committee on Rules and Business
- Committee on House Services
- Committee on Public Petitions
- Committee on Public Accounts
- Committee on Ethics and Privileges
- Committee on Media and Public Affairs (Chaired by Rep. Akintunde Rotimi)

This structure guarantees continuity across legislative cycles, reinforces institutional stability, and enables the House to discharge its constitutional responsibilities with discipline and consistency.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON MEDIA AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

A. Strategic Direction and Guiding Principles

The House Committee on Media and Public Affairs serves as the official communications interface between the House of Representatives and the Nigerian public. Established in the 10th Assembly pursuant to Order 20, Rule 2(7) of the House Standing Orders (Eleventh Edition), its mandate covers parliamentary information management, media relations, public clarification of legislative activity, and protection of institutional credibility.

Upon being named by the Speaker, Rt. Hon. Abbas Tajudeen, PhD, GCON as Spokesman of the House of Representatives on July 27, 2023, the Rep. Akin Rotimi-led Committee defined a clear strategic direction shaped by prevailing institutional realities.

The 10th Assembly commenced with over 70 percent turnover in membership and persistent public perception challenges arising from historical underreporting and misinformation. The Committee prioritised structured communication, proactive engagement, and institutional visibility as instruments for strengthening public trust and legislative clarity.

This direction is anchored on three guiding principles:

- Transparency: Accurate, timely, and substantive communication of legislative work
- Engagement: Continuous interaction between Parliament, the media, and citizens through multi-platforms.
- Accessibility: Clear, understandable, and publicly available legislative processes, decisions, proceedings, and records.

These principles guide all Committee activities and define its institutional approach.

B. Strategic Communication and Public Information Systems

(i) Strengthened Continuity in Institutional Communication: The Committee strengthened continuity in institutional communication by expanding the legacy Green Chamber Magazine into a broader and more contemporary identity, "Green Chamber, Nigeria," and developing it into a multi-platform communication channel to ensure consistency, reach, and public accessibility, while consolidating the visibility of the House within an evolving media landscape.

(ii) Coordinated communication systems were established to ensure that parliamentary activities are reported with accuracy, consistency, and reach. These systems introduced structured digital content formats, including explanatory series and policy-focused updates, improving public understanding of legislative processes and outputs.

A dedicated WhatsApp communication channel further enhanced direct, timely, and accessible engagement with citizens and stakeholders, supporting the regular dissemination of verified updates and strengthening public access to official information.

(iii) Structured rapid-response mechanisms were implemented to address misinformation and correct inaccurate narratives concerning the House and its Members. This intervention improved message discipline, addressed information gaps, and reinforced public confidence in official communication channels.

Between September 2023 and April 2026, approximately 291 official press releases and statements were issued. These outputs strengthened the timeliness and consistency of public information and reduced gaps that previously enabled speculation.

(iv) Sustained engagement across broadcast and digital media expanded the reach of parliamentary communication. Participation in approximately 50 television and radio interviews, alongside engagement with over 100 media platforms, increased public visibility of legislative work, supported more proactive communication, and strengthened connection with citizens.

These measures improved coordination, reduced delays in information flow, and, supported by strengthened operational capacity through targeted engagement of skilled professionals across media, digital content, and research functions, enhanced responsiveness, content quality, and institutional coordination within the House's communication framework.

These principles guide all Committee activities and define its institutional approach.

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY AND CAUCUS PARTICIPATION

Rep. Akintunde Rotimi plays an active role in parliamentary diplomacy and institutional coordination through strategic engagements within and outside the House of Representatives.

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) – Africa Region
Following his inauguration into the 10th House of Representatives, Rep. Rotimi was nominated by the Speaker, Abbas Tajudeen, as one of four Members selected to represent Nigeria in the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Africa Region.

The CPA Africa Region, the largest of the nine regions within the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, comprises 18 national and 44 subnational legislatures across the continent.

Headquartered in Dar es Salaam, it promotes the interests of African parliaments while advancing gender equality, human rights, democracy, and good governance.

Through this role, Rep. Rotimi engages with parliamentary counterparts across Africa, strengthens legislative practice, and contributes to the advancement of democratic governance. His participation reinforces Nigeria's voice in regional parliamentary affairs and supports effective and accountable lawmaking.

EKITI STATE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY CAUCUS

ADVOCACY, THOUGHT LEADERSHIP AND THE ARCHITECTURE OF INCLUSION

In the 10th National Assembly, legislative service extends beyond lawmaking to include advocacy, representation, and institutional leadership. For Rep. Akintunde Rotimi, Spokesman of the House of Representatives and Chairman of the House Committee on Media and Public Affairs, this responsibility reflects a clear commitment to social justice and institutional reform. His work integrates legislative action with principled leadership, ensuring that the concerns of everyday Nigerians remain central to national policy.

Through a deliberate focus on empathy, accountability, and inclusion, he has amplified the voices of marginalised groups within parliamentary processes and national discourse.

I. Champion of Collaborative Action for Change

Rep. Rotimi advances a collaborative approach to lawmaking, recognising that effective legislation is strengthened by partnerships with civil society organisations, subject-matter experts, and policy advocates. His legislative interventions in gender equality, social protection, and public health reflect this model.

Key Legislative Partnerships

- Sexual Harassment in Tertiary Educational Institutions (Prohibition) Bill: Developed with contributions from stakeholders including Ms. Omowunmi Ogunmoroti of Gender Mobile Initiative and Hon. Sunday Asefon, this legislation establishes safeguards against sexual harassment in tertiary institutions. It was passed by the House of Representatives in October 2024 and received Senate concurrence in November 2025.

- Independent Candidacy Bill: Supported by ElectHER, a non-partisan organisation advocating inclusive political participation, this bill expands democratic access by enabling independent candidacy. The collaboration strengthened technical design and public engagement, particularly in advancing women's political inclusion.

- Compulsory Genotype Screening Bill: In partnership with Dr. Ayomide Olanipekun of the OA Initiative, this bill promotes genetic awareness and aims to reduce the prevalence of inherited health conditions, including Sickle Cell Disease.

- Whistleblowers Bill, 2024: Developed in collaboration with the African Centre for Media and Information Literacy led by Chido Onumah, this bill provides legal protection for individuals reporting corruption and misconduct, strengthening accountability frameworks.

These partnerships demonstrate his capacity to convene diverse stakeholders and deliver legislation that is inclusive, evidence-based, and responsive to public needs.

ii. Advocacy for Media Freedom, Open Governance, and the Right to Dissent

As Spokesman of the House of Representatives, Rep. Akintunde Rotimi has consistently advanced media freedom, transparency, and the right to dissent as core pillars of democratic governance. His record reflects deliberate leadership in protecting civic space, strengthening institutional accountability, and promoting constructive engagement between citizens and the legislature.

- Legislative Advocacy for Civil Liberties

During plenary in July 2024, he advanced an amendment that reframed deliberations on the #EndBadGovernance protests, placing clear emphasis on the constitutional rights to peaceful assembly and freedom of expression. This intervention reinforced the duty of the legislature to uphold civil liberties while addressing public concerns through lawful and democratic processes.

Direct Engagement During Protests

During Electoral Reform protests at the National Assembly in February 2026, Rep. Rotimi addressed demonstrators and affirmed the legislature's openness to citizen engagement. He emphasised that the National Assembly remains accessible and responsive to Nigerians, and urged public confidence in its leadership, including Senator Godswill Akpabio, GCON and Rt. Hon. Abbas Tajudeen, PhD, GCON.

He further disclosed that an emergency plenary session of both chambers had been convened in response to the issues raised, demonstrating institutional responsiveness to citizens' demands. These engagements reflect a deliberate and continuing approach to dialogue, ensuring that citizen voices remain integrated into legislative consideration and decision-making processes.

Response to the Tear Gas Incident

Following reports of alleged use of tear gas on protesters at the National Assembly, Rep. Rotimi led the House response by expressing concern and affirming the constitutional right to peaceful and lawful assembly. He emphasised that while security agencies have a duty to maintain order, such responsibilities must be exercised with professionalism, restraint, and full respect for fundamental rights.

He initiated engagement with relevant authorities to review the circumstances surrounding the incident, in line with the oversight mandate of the House, to ensure accountability and prevent recurrence. At the same time, he encouraged protesters to act within the law and avoid conduct capable of escalating tensions. This response reflects a balanced approach that protects civil liberties while sustaining public order and institutional responsibility.

Advancing Open Governance and Transparency

In response to public concerns regarding alleged alterations to recently enacted tax legislation, Rep. Rotimi announced the release of key laws passed by both Chambers of the National Assembly, and signed by President Bola Ahmed Tinubu, GCFR for public scrutiny.

These include the Nigeria Tax Act, 2025; Nigeria Tax Administration Act, 2025; Joint Revenue Board of Nigeria (Establishment) Act, 2025; and Nigeria Revenue Service (Establishment) Act, 2025.

This action reinforced transparency in the legislative process and strengthened public confidence in the integrity of lawmaking. It also reflects an ongoing commitment to open governance, where access to information, public scrutiny, and institutional accountability remain continuous features of legislative practice.

Global Engagement on Media Independence

He has also contributed to international policy dialogues hosted by the governments of Norway, Sweden, and Finland, engaging in media independence, democratic resilience, and countering disinformation.

A Voice for Accountability

In February 2024, Rep. Rotimi took a firm public stand against comments by the then Minister of Women Affairs that suggested women should remain silent in the face of domestic conflict. He argued that such views overlook the realities of gender-based violence, asserting that safety and justice must always come before traditional stereotypes.

iii. Inclusive Governance: Empowering Persons with Disabilities

Guided by the principle of Leaving No One Behind, Rep. Rotimi is working to transform PWD advocacy from simple assistance into active participation in government.

Constitution Alteration Bill allowing candidates to run for office without political party sponsorship, opening doors for more women and youth. The bill is currently awaiting clause-by-clause consideration of constitution alteration bills

Leading by Example

In a demonstration of practical commitment, Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. appointed 85 Legislative Assistants across his constituency, of which 30 percent (26 individuals) are Persons with Disabilities (PWDs). Beyond inclusion, this structure was deliberately designed for grassroots representation, with the 26 aides serving as PWD focal persons across the 24 wards of the constituency. This ensures that the voices, concerns, and priorities of the PWD community are not only acknowledged but systematically integrated into constituency engagement and policy feedback mechanisms.

Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr.: Delivering Inclusive Healthcare Through Three Major Medical Missions Across Ekiti North I

> "Healthcare is not a privilege for a few, but a right for all. Our commitment is clear, to ensure that no one in our constituency is left behind in accessing quality and life-saving medical care." — Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr.

Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. has continued to demonstrate a strong commitment to inclusive healthcare delivery through the successful implementation of three major medical missions, each designed to expand access to quality healthcare services and improve the well-being of constituents.

The first medical outreach marked a significant milestone, providing free healthcare services to over 1,500 constituents across Ikole and Oye Local Government Areas. Anchored on the principle of "Leaving No One Behind," the outreach delivered essential services including medical consultations, basic diagnostic screenings, and free medications. The initiative specifically targeted underserved and vulnerable populations, many of whom had limited or no access to professional healthcare services.

Building on this foundation, the second intervention, the Ayewa 2-Day Comprehensive Medico-Surgical Mission, expanded the scope and depth of healthcare delivery. Implemented in partnership with the National Primary Health Care Development Agency (NPHCDA), the Nigerian Medical Association (NMA), Ekiti State Branch, and the Association of Resident Doctors (ARD), Federal Teaching Hospital, Ido-Ekiti, the mission provided a wide range of services including specialist consultations, surgical procedures, and post-operative care.

The Ayewa Mission recorded remarkable impact, with hundreds of beneficiaries receiving life-changing medical attention. For many, it represented a rare opportunity to undergo needed surgical procedures and receive comprehensive treatment at no cost, restoring health, hope, and productivity.

The third medical mission further reinforced this commitment, consolidating previous gains and extending outreach to more communities within the constituency. It continued the delivery of free medical services, deepened access to care, and strengthened preventive health awareness among constituents, ensuring sustained impact across different population groups.

Across all three interventions, a consistent focus has been placed on equity, accessibility, and sustainability in healthcare delivery. These missions not only addressed immediate medical needs but also promoted early diagnosis, preventive care, and improved health-seeking behavior within communities.

Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. emphasized that these interventions form part of a broader strategy to strengthen community health systems and improve quality of life:

> "Our approach to healthcare goes beyond treatment, it is about building systems that ensure continuous access, dignity, and better outcomes for our people."

2,100 Solar Streetlights Transform Safety and Economic Life Across 40 Communities

> "Lighting our communities is about more than visibility, it is about safety, opportunity, and dignity. This intervention ensures that our people can live, work, and thrive in a more secure and enabling environment."

In a major step towards enhancing public safety, economic productivity, and quality of life, Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. facilitated the installation of 2,100 solar-powered streetlights across 40 communities in Ekiti North I (Ikole/Oye) Federal Constituency.

By leveraging renewable energy solutions, the initiative ensures sustainable and cost-effective lighting for communities, particularly in areas with limited access to stable electricity.

Well-lit environments contribute to stronger community confidence and support the efforts of local security networks in safeguarding lives and property.

Economically, the impact is equally transformative. Extended hours of lighting enable traders, artisans, and small business owners to operate beyond daylight hours, thereby increasing productivity, boosting local commerce, and strengthening livelihoods. The presence of reliable lighting also encourages greater social and commercial interaction within communities.

Politically, this intervention underscores a responsive and inclusive approach to representation, ensuring that development is not concentrated in urban centres alone, but extended equitably across rural and semi-urban communities. By reaching 40 communities, the project reinforces a commitment to balanced development and grassroots impact.

Delivering Festive Relief and Social Support Across Ekiti North I Through Three Consecutive Palliative Interventions (2023–2025)

> "This intervention reflects our commitment to responsive leadership, ensuring that in every season, especially in times of need, no household is left unsupported." — Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr.

Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. has sustained a strong tradition of compassionate and people-centered leadership through the successful implementation of three consecutive festive season palliative interventions between 2023 and 2025, delivering critical relief and support to constituents across Ikole and Oye Local Government Areas.

The 2023 edition laid the foundation for this intervention, with large-scale distribution supported by President Bola Ahmed Tinubu and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Rt. Hon. Abbas Tajudeen. The programme delivered 3,000 bags of rice, 1,000 bags of garri, and ₦15 million in direct financial support, providing immediate relief to households during the festive season.

Building on this momentum, the 2024 edition expanded the reach and impact of the programme with the distribution of 1,200 bags of 50kg rice, alongside approximately ₦20 million in direct financial support to constituents. This phase reflected a more structured and targeted approach, ensuring broader coverage and deeper impact across communities.

The 2025 edition further reinforced this commitment, delivering 900 bags of 50kg rice and 500 units of 5-litre groundnut oil, in addition to ₦24.75 million in financial support. This phase emphasized both food security and direct economic relief, addressing immediate household needs while supporting livelihoods.

Across all three editions, the festive palliative programme has evolved into a sustained social intervention framework, combining food distribution with financial support to enhance resilience, reduce hardship, and promote inclusivity within the constituency.

Rep. Rotimi emphasized that while these interventions provide immediate relief, they are part of a broader, long-term development strategy:

> "Our responsibility is not only to respond to immediate needs, but to build systems that create opportunity, strengthen livelihoods, and deliver lasting impact for our people."

He also expressed deep appreciation to constituents for their continued trust and support, noting that their confidence remains central to his commitment to effective and inclusive representation.

Through these sustained efforts, Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. continues to demonstrate a governance approach that balances compassion with strategy, ensuring that social support interventions are complemented by long-term investments in infrastructure, economic development, and human capital across Ekiti North I.

Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr.: Delivering Sustainable Water Infrastructure Through Rehabilitation and Strategic Expansion

February 4, 2026

Representation is fundamentally about responding to the real needs of the people and delivering infrastructure that directly impacts lives and livelihoods. Water is an essential public utility, yet many communities have been left behind in access to clean and potable water.

Over time, I observed that several water projects, including constituency projects facilitated by officials and entities at the federal, state, and local government levels, had fallen into disrepair. In some cases, I intervened to ensure they were repaired and restored to service. This highlights a broader challenge we must address collectively—the need to improve our maintenance culture and strengthen community ownership of public infrastructure.

Maintenance and rehabilitation efforts, however, are sometimes met with misplaced criticism. Some dismiss such interventions as insignificant, favouring new projects even when existing infrastructure can be effectively restored. This mindset often leads to a cycle where new facilities are abandoned, deteriorate, and ultimately require fresh interventions.

Our water strategy therefore combines rehabilitation with new construction. Where infrastructure exists but has deteriorated, we restore it. Where communities are underserved, we provide new facilities. We are proud of the growing footprint of our water interventions across the constituency through both borehole rehabilitation and new construction. This balanced approach promotes sustainability and equitable access.

As a Geographer, I remain conscious of the environmental and public health risks associated with indiscriminate borehole drilling without proper planning. Our interventions are guided by careful assessment, sustainability principles, and the specific needs of each community.

This forward-thinking approach aligns with the Federal Government's Renewed Hope Agenda and the Ekiti State Government's Shared Prosperity Agenda.

Accordingly, we have commenced a new phase that blends rehabilitation and new construction. Boreholes are being rehabilitated in Oye Town and at the Federal Medical Centre, Ikole-Ekiti, while new boreholes are under construction in Oloje-Ekiti and Esun-Ekiti.

This phase is currently underway, and we are committed to completing these projects in the coming weeks, by the grace of God. Our focus remains clear—to deliver functional, sustainable water infrastructure that meets the real needs of our people.

Expanding Access to Clean Water Through Solar-Powered Borehole Projects Across Communities

> "Access to clean water is fundamental to life and dignity. Through these targeted interventions, we are not only expanding access but ensuring that our water infrastructure is sustainable, reliable, and responsive to the real needs of our people." — Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr.

Building on an ongoing commitment to delivering sustainable and equitable water infrastructure, Rep. Akin Rotimi Jr. has commenced a new phase of targeted interventions through the construction and rehabilitation of solar-powered boreholes across multiple communities in Ekiti North I (Ikole/Oye) Federal Constituency.

This latest effort directly aligns with the previously outlined water strategy—one that combines the rehabilitation of existing infrastructure with the development of new facilities to ensure long-term sustainability, efficiency, and equitable access to clean and potable water.

Under this phase, new solar-powered boreholes are being constructed in: Egbe Street, along Afao Road, Ire-Ekiti; Oloje-Ekiti; Esun-Ekiti ; Ipao-Ekiti; Itapa-Ekiti; Imojo-Ekiti; Odo-Ayedun & Oke-Ako Ekiti.

In addition, a critical rehabilitation effort has been undertaken at Irona Street, Oye-Ekiti, where an existing borehole has been restored and upgraded with solar power to ensure consistent and reliable water supply.

These interventions are carefully designed to address both underserved communities and areas where existing infrastructure had deteriorated. By deploying solar-powered systems, the projects ensure sustainability, reduce operational costs, and provide dependable access to water regardless of grid electricity availability.

Beyond improving access to clean water, this initiative contributes to better public health outcomes, supports household needs, and enhances small-scale economic activities that depend on reliable water supply.

This phase reinforces a deliberate and data-driven approach to water infrastructure, one that prioritizes community needs, promotes environmental responsibility, and strengthens long-term functionality over short-term fixes.

Rep. Rotimi remains committed to delivering impactful and sustainable solutions that improve the daily lives of constituents, ensuring that no community is left behind in access to essential services.
